

Big Ben and the houses of parliament

LONDON

written by Theo Delonne

IS AN ICONIC

London is probably the most rich multicultural CITY in the world. When you walk the streets of London you can notice this cultural mix in the city. My trip allowed me to discover this fantastic city. London is an icon in the world, known for its monuments such as the famous Big Ben or Tower Bridge which overlooks the Thames. Another London icon is Saint-Paul's Cathedral.

Tower Bridge

The London Eye is one of London's most iconic tourist attractions, along with the Science Museum and the Imperial War Museum.

London Eye

Buckingham Palace is the first residence of King Charles III.

Buckingham Palace

AND GREEN CITY

When I think of London, I immediately see the famous cabs or the red double-decker buses. The city of London is investing massively to make the city greener, with its electric buses.

You Know ?

In London there are 885 electric buses.

A double-decker bus

40 percent of the city of London is covered in green spaces, it is considered the greenest capital in the world.

With these green spaces and Rampion Wind Farm, which alone produces over 146,000 megawatts per year, London boasts a vast array of green spaces.

Rampion Wind Farm

A green building

London is a very green city, we very often find facades of completely green buildings, this gives a real contrast with the other neighboring buildings and this gives charm to the city.